Something I pride myself in is my position and role of the high school's drama club. I only joined in my junior year but I have already been elected as the stage manager! Drama is one of my top priorities and it's like a home-away-from-home for me and created a place where I can go if I'm having stress at home. Along with that, I take pride that I am the president of the school's SAGA (sexuality and gender alliance). Working with students who want to learn more about sexuality and gender and educating them is something that I look forward to every week.

I take interest in drawing, playing the ukulele, and jamming out to some rad tunes with my friends. My favorite bands include CHVRCHES, Oh Wonder, The xx, Twenty One Pilots, and many more strange bands that a lot of people have never heard of. Speaking of bands, I attend concerts all of the time, if there's a time where I don't attend a concert within a few weeks, there's definitely something wrong! So far, I've been to 68 concerts, and there are many more to come during the summer and fall season. Having attending so many concerts is a good conversation starter and you get to meet a lot of new people!

So far high school has been a rollercoaster, but ever since I started, it's only been going up with only little dips. Joining clubs and meeting new people really helped throughout my high school life. I met my friends that I can call family through clubs. Doing drama and SAGA is something I'd never regret! In the future, I plan to go to college to study film and directing, this senior year will definitely help me with that. I'm taking a lot of film classes that will get me more into the film industry and learn more about filming and editing in general.

I'm very excited about this year since it is my senior year, but I'm also very nervous that it's my last year. So far, I've made a lot of memories in high school and thinking about not being able to see my friends every day after this year is something I'm not looking forward to. I'm also nervous about college acceptances, but I think everyone is nervous about that to tell you the truth, it's a stressful thing. However overall, I'm very excited about this upcoming year and I can't wait to make even more memories!
